*BUMPER CORN CROP IS SAFE

Nation Assured of Cereal Supplies As Danger of Frost Passes

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 4 — A bumper corn crop sufficient to provide 25 bushels for every man, woman and child in the United States was labeled "secure" today by grain experts.

Corn has won its race with frost, grain men asserted, and is now out of danger—assuring thhe country a firm base upon which to build its cereal, meat and dairy food production next year.

C. M. Galvin, statistician for James E. Bennett & Co., grain firm, predicted a record-breaking crop of 3,326,398,000 bushels on the basis of Oct. 1 conditions reported by grain dealers, millers and other correspondents in the growing territory.

Quality Excellent

"The great bulk of the corn crop is now beyond frost damage," Galvin said, "and the crop generally will be of excellent quality. This is in sharp contrast with last year, when much soft corn was harvested."

Ed Boerner of Harris, Upham and Co., said the high quality "will add considerably to the feeding value of the crop."

In its weekly review, the weather bureau agreed with Galvin, stating, "corn is now mostly safe and is in good to mostly very good condition, especially in the main belt."

Harvesting of some early corn in the midwest already is under way. The first car arrived her yesterday from Indiana. It sold at auction for $1.90 a bushel. Grain men said the harvest would be completed by Christmas.

A major problem surrounding the crop was how to get it to market. Box car shortages are hindering movement of wheat and oats now, even before the corn and soybean flow starts.

200 AT EMMANUEL DINNER FOR VETS

Over 200 attended a "Welcome Home" dinner for returned war veterans at the Emmanuel Lutheran church Thursday evening.

About 63 veterans attended the dinner, sponsored by the church council, which featured a speech by Rev. Oliver Grotefend of Cleveland.

Rev. Grotefend served for five and a half years as chaplain in the army in the Pacific area. The topic of his talk was "The Siren is Clear."

He discussed the damage done by the war to both personnel and property and outlined the tremendous job of reconstruction which must follow to rebuild in both categories.

"With a large standing army and an abundance of arms there will be no peace. We must recognize that Christ is the Prince of Peace and only by following his doctrines and examples will there be a lasting peace," he said.

Rev. Grotefend outlined his experiences in the war. Holding the rank of colonel, he was in charge of 700 other chaplains in the Pacific area.

The speaker was introduced by Rev. John Bauman. Toastmaster for the dinner was John F. Schmid. The committee in charge was composed of William Adams, Dwight Getz and Carl Abe.

WALLACE HITS AT BARUCH IN BOMB DISPUTE

Both Admit Danger Confronting Nations, But Dispute Cause

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—Grave danger confronts United Nations efforts to set up international atomic controls, Bernard M. Baruch and Henry A. Wallace virtually agreed today.

But they bitterly disputed the cause.

Wallace, ousted secretary of commerce, blamed Baruch. He declared that with nations already launched on "a frantic atomic bomb race," Baruch has adopted a "stubborn and inflexible" approach to negotiations involving Russia.

Dangerous "Errors"

Baruch, American member of the U. N. Atomic Energy commission blamed Wallace. He asserted the former cabinet officer perpetrated "errors" and caused public confusion in his criticsm of the United States control plan.

The "errors," Baruch charged, are "gravely dangerous to the delicate negotiations now underway."

While President Truman put the whole controversy down as a matter between Baruch and Wallace, the government actually appeared to be caught between its international negotiations and the domestic controversy which the highly personal charges of the two men seemed certain to arouse.

Wallace, whom the President removed from the cabinet last month because of his split with Secretary of State Byrnes over Russian relations, had the latest word in the row with Baruch.

In a statement last night, Wallace declared that atomic energy negotiations in the United Nations have reached an "impasse" on two basic points of disagreement, which he attributed indirectly to Bar-

Halsey, Jr., who attacked "isolationism and radical disarmament" as defeating the goal for which the military won the war—peace. (International Soundphoto)

LEWIS DECRIES MEAT SCARCITY

Reaches Famine Proportions In Ohio, Congressman Complains

AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. — Rep. Earl Lewis (R-Ohio) complained today that a meat shortage in Ohio had reached "famine proportions" because the government planned for the future rather than the present.

Saying that coal miners and steel workers in eastern Ohio were threatening to stop production unless they get meat, Lewis declared that his protests to the OPA and the Agriculture department had brought "little but promised investigations."

"They continually plan for the future and completely disregard the present," the Ohioan added in an interview. "It is the present critical shortage for which they are responsible and about which they should do something now."

Lewis said that he agreed with officials of the coal miners and others engaged in manual labor.

Would Eliminate OPA

He sent his protests to OPA Chief Paul Porter and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson but neither, he said, had indicated that any specific action would be ordered to ease the situation.

Lewis quoted an Agriculture department letter as saying that a program involving the fattening of cattle and hogs for later marketing "is undoubtedly slowing up somewhat the early expansion of livestock marketing to normal levels, but it is very encouraging for our meat prospects in the months ahead."

"In fact," Lewis quoted further "recent ceiling price adjustments were definitely planned to encourage just this sort of production increase for the future."

"The shortage of meat is a real danger," Lewis said. "Coal miners just can't do without adequate food. OPA should be thrown out of the window so that business can go ahead and let production and competition level off prices in the normal way."

Truman Calls For Jewish Immigration To Palestine

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGOON, Oct. 4 — President Truman called today for an immediate "substantial immigration" of displaced Jews into Palestine.

In a Yom Kippur day statement, which he cabled to British Prime Minister Attlee, the President outlined his own views as follows:

"1. In view of the fact that winter will come on before the conference (Palestine conference in London) can be resumed, I believe and urge that substantial immigration into Palestine cannot await a solution to the Palestine problem and that it should begin at once.

Offers Assistance

Preparations for this movement have already been made by this government and it is ready to lend its immediate assistance.

"2. I state again, as I have stated on previous occasions, that the immigration laws of other countries, including the United States, should be liberalized with a view to the admission of displaced persons. I am prepared to make such a recommendation to the congress and to continue as energetically as possible collaborations with other countries on the whole problem of displaced persons.

"3. Furthermore, should a workable solution for Palestine be devised, I would be willing to recommend to the congress a plan for economic assistance for the development of thaat country."

Regrets Delayed Meeting

The President's statement, released by Press Secretary Charles G. Ross with the announcement that its contents were cabled to Attlee, expressed Mr. Truman's "deep regret" that the meetings of the London Palestine conference are not to be resumed until December.

The President said that in the light of the "terrible ordeal which the Jewish people of Europe endured during the recent wars" and the crisis now existing, "I cannot believe that a program of immediate action along the lines suggested above could not be worked out with the cooperation of all people concerned."

He added that "the administration will continue to do everything it can to this end."

Yom Kippur, starting at sundown today, is the Jewish sacred day of atonement, supposedly dating back to Moses. Its annual observance of the tenth day of seventh month is marked by the custom of fasting, and elaborate ceremonies of supplication.

Mr. Truman's statement coincided with London reports that the Jewish agency and the British government were near accord on proposals providing for general amnesty for prisoners seized during recent disturbances in Palestine.

Study and Practice Christianity, Men Told by Dr. Slosser

"The men of the church must take time to study, absorb, and practice Christianity," declared Dr. Gaius J. Slosser, speaking before the men's dinner in the Presbyterian church last night.

"The struggle is already under way between the ideologies of Christian democracy and atheistic communism, and as the devotee of communism 'soaks himself' in that culture, so must the Christian fill his mind with the teachings of his faith," he said.

Speaking on "When Men Decay," the speaker listed a number of virtues as being necessary to prevent physical, mental, and moral decay. Among these were: "A breadth of understanding of humanity, a depth of sympathy, and a thorough going faith in God."

"When men decay spiritually," said Dr. Slosser, "the church loses its power, and the youth of the land lose their most inspiring example. If there is a delinquent youth problem today, it is because the decay has already set in on the adult population of the land. There is no use in trying to inculcate the teaching of the Christian tradition in young people if their parents insist upon treating those teachings with indifference."

The speaker was introduced by John Vance who told of the long military record and renowned ministry of Dr. Slosser who was recently elected to the moderatorship of the Synod of Pennsylvania. Atty. Al Fitch presided over the program.

A new musical organization of the church made its first appearance and was enthusiastically received by the large number of men present. The Presbyterian Men's Glee club sang three numbers, "The Crusader's Hymn," "The Gospel Train," and "Now the Day Is Over." W. Wentz Alsbaugh directed the group.

Pittsburgh Motormen May Return

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4—About 2,700 AFL-streetcar motormen, idle almost a week in a "protective walkout," were scheduled to vote at 3 p. m. today on whether to crash picket lines set up by a striking independent power union.

Return to work of the trolley operators would end one of the most severe transportation tieups in the city's history and alleviate the effects of a strike of 3,500 Duquesne Light Co. employes, now in its 11th day.

The streetcar men voted last Saturday against returning to work as long as the power picket lines remained intact. As the strike continued to drag on day after day, with no sign of settlement in sight, high-ranking AFL officials, both inside the streetcar union and out, urged a return to work.

Weary Conferences Go On

The AFL-Pittsburgh central labor union, representing 175,000 workers, warned the Independent Association of Employes of the Duquesne Light Company it would "tolerate no interference with members."

J. P. O'Brien, international representative of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, came here from Boston on Wednesday to urge a return to work.

U. S. Labor conciliators today wearily began a fifth day of joint conferences between Duquesne Light Co. officials and representatives of the independent union of its workers.

A company statement last night said "absolutely no progress" had been made in the talks and again urged the dispute be submitted to arbitration. The union seeks a 20 percent pay raise, from $1.18 to $1.41 an hour, and other benefits. The company has offered five percent.

Meanwhile, the strike-harrassed Pittsburgh district contended with two other work stoppages among hotel and a food distributor's employes.

With units already functioning in more than half of the Ohio counties, these officers are continuing organization work to include the entire state.

A meeting will be called next week to select temporary officers for organization work in Salem. Work of forming groups in other parts of the county will follow.

AVIATION GAS PLANT RUINED BY EXPLOSION

Blast at Marcus Hook, Pa., Is Felt 20 Miles Away In Philadelphia

(By Associated Press)

MARCUS HOOK, Pa., Oct. 4—Seven persons were killed and upwards of 140 others injured by fire and thunderous explosions which roared through a unit of Sun Oil company's $13,000,000 aviation gasoline refinery several hours before subsiding early today.

Sun Oil Vice President Arthur E. Pew, Jr., estimated damage to the world's largest alkylation plant at $300,000.

He said "a packing gland which failed, caused gas to escape and flash," touching off the series of explosions felt 20 miles away in Philadelphia.

Boiling up in huge clouds of smoke lit by darting tongues of flame, the fire swept unchecked for four hours after the first blast at 6:10 p. m. yesterday. It was then brought under control, but was not extinguished until this morning.

Volunteer Firemen Hurt

Many of the injured were volunteer firemen. The heaviest casualty toll occurred when flames, racing out of a pump room, reached a 125-foot fractionating tower. It went up with a roar, the shock rocking the countryside for miles.

All of the deaths occurred in hospitals here and in nearby Chester, Pa. Many others of the 69 admitted to hospitals were reported in critical condition.

The dead:

Michael Burke, 39, Chester, foreman in the section where the blast occurred.

Dewitt Haynie, Woodlyn, Pa., carpenter.

Woodburn M. James, 47, Claymont, Del., mechanic.

Glenn Jones, 38, Linwood, Pa., operator.

William Gallagher, 48, Twin Oaks, Pa., mechanic.

Griffith Davis, 43, Chester.

William Ward, 20, Linwood, Pa.,

An eighth man, Leland Bailey, 49-year-old ship's cook, died during the blaze but a company spokesman said investigation disclosed he slipped into the Delaware river while boarding a ship and drowned.

19 Critically Burned

Nineteen of the fire victims were reported in critical condition and hospital authorities said several are not expected to live. In addition, Joseph Russo, 52, a Marcus Hook policeman, waas reported in critical condition after he was struck by an automobile while directing traffic after the fire

Alex Petrovich of Boothwyne, a fire victim, said "it was horrible." "Men were screaming, their clothes afire."

Shortly after the initial blast shook this Delaware river industrial community of 4,000, all available fire fighting equipment was summoned from nearby cities. Flames fed by the high-octaine gasoline spread to the base of a 125-foot fractionating tower causing it to collapse, spraying flaming gasoline over fire fighters.

The fire was visible for a distance of 30 miles and residents of Wilmington, Del., 15 miles south of here, said the explosion shook homes in that section.

George Ruth, one of the workmen injured, said he was blown across a room by the initial blast.

Ambulances rushed the injured to Chester, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., where hospital facilities were taxed to handle the victims. Emergency cots were set up in the hallways and blood plasma was rushed from nearby blood banks to supplement hospital supplies.

Landmark of Justice

In the days when German military power was at its height, the enemies of fascism used to dream what seemed a hopeless dream. It was of a day when the defeated Nazi leaders would be brought to the bar of justice for trial by an international tribunal representing outraged humanity.

That, it seemed, would be the great moment of vindication in world history. Actually, the Nuernberg war crimes trial was somewhat less impressive. The arch criminal Hitler was not there. And what promised to be the most spectacular "courtroom drama" of all time assumed a ponderous pace as the court ground and sifted a great grist of evidence for more than 10 months.

There were flashes of drama, to be sure. But gradually the trial slipped back in the paper from Page One, and many of its reporters slipped away to fresher assignments. Even the thousands of crimes of Nazidom, when cataloged and recounted in the Palace of Justice, benumbed the mind by their sheer massive weight.

Perhaps, too, we thought of the defendants too much as the rag-tag mob that they were as they sat in the dock. The contrast between this pallid, haggard rabble and their former strutting, overdressed arrogance could not be overlooked or discounted. Yet there was the temptation, as we read of the sniveling and buck-passing in which those 21 men indulged, to allow past crimes to shrink to the present stature of the criminals.

But the high drama and immense significance returned to the trial at its close. That is fortunate, for it may help the world's millions who suffered from nazism and founght it and hated it to realize the full truth—that the trial of the Nazi criminals was indeed a landmark in the history of law and justice.

The physical existence of a criminal, even of such criminals as these, is of little ultimate importance. Benito Mussolini and Adolf Hitler died violently in the midst of such violence that their passing was only of momentary concern. The passing of the Nuernberg criminals will be of similarly small importance. It cannot expiate a thousandth of their crimes. The slaughtered Nazi victims will be just as dead. The devastation of the Nazi war will be just as ruinous.

Yet because these men shall die, the world is a different and better place. It has taken thousands of years for humanity to admit and act upon the insistent truth that the man who plans and orders the death of innocent and unoffending thousands is as guilty as the man who kills his innocent and unoffending neighbor. The precedent is now established.

The element of venegeance in the verdict is secondary; the principle of justice is all-important. From this day forth the perpetrator of unprovoked, aggressive war is individually and personally guilty of a crime against humanity.

If there should be a future war, its instigators will know that international law and world opinion are immutable upon that point. And since an instinctive love of life must reside in even the cruelest and most fanatic minds, the decision of the Nuernberg court may be one more deterrent of continuing war, and one further hope for lasting peace.

Everything To Gain

The manpower preparedness plan published by the War Department is an invitation to each citizen and a command to every member of the next Congress to make an honest answer to a simple question:

What could the United States lose if it prepared its young men for the possibility of war pending positive proof that war has been made impossible?

The War Deparment plan is easy to define, easy to comprehend. Young men would register at 17. At 18 they would be eligible for their first six months of military training if through high school. In no case would their secondary school education be interrupted. Their eligibility for training would continue until they were past their 20th birthday.

Six months of basic and specialized training would uncover and develop special aptitudes. The trainee then would exercise one of several options about his second and final six months as a trainee. He could go into advanced training, enlist in the regular services, join the National Guard, become a member of the organized reserve corps, enter a service academy, or go into the enlisted reserve corps under his choice of arrangements with the War Department under its technical training program. The term for the alternative programs for manpower preparadeness would be equivalent to the second six months of regular training.

When George Washington was struggling against hopeless odds to prepare an army for the American revolution, he discovered the difference between quantitative and qualitative manpower. Until his soldiers learned how to fight they were helpless against trained troops.

The United States has learned the same lesson the same hard way in each of its wars—that men who do not know how to fight are helpless. The latest lesson was after 1940. It was still being learned as late as 1945. Many an American fighting man in World War II would have had a better chance for his life and security if he had been prepared for duty during the years after World War I.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, October 5

A GENERAL state of adverse and difficult conditions is based on current astral configurations. There is a tendency to irritation and tumulous and reckless acts, not only in the disposition and conduct, but in a flare for extravagance, excess, and carelessness with the use of funds, energies and emotions.

Unless this proclivity be checked, and affairs be placed on sound foundations, there may be frustration and lasting regret. Tact and right strategem may assist.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have certain promising openings for success and happiness, both in business and personal affairs, but a stubborn tendency to rash, intemperate, indulgent and extravagant conduct is likely to offset and defeat all such good prospects. This rash expenditure of funds, energies, friends and opportunities should be decisively curbed.

A checkup on resources and underlying circumstances might place things on a sound foundation. Some strategy or subtle manipulations might assist to more hopeful and enduring denouement.

A child born on this day is disposed to be careless, impetuous, extravagant and willful, and needs early discipline and training.

Most girls do a clever job of making up—yet young fellows think the paint on their cheeks needs retouching.

Folks who keep smiling seem to get along. Others get a long face.

Look at the bright side! At least you seldom find any billboard bordering a rough detour.

There were 25 per cent more divorces granted in 1945 than in 1944. What we need is more proposals with a ring of sincerity.

Now comes fall house cleaning. Just one pane after another.

Installments would be a lot easier to handle if we could pay them by installments.

You are never too old to learn you are never too old to learn.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

'Stomach Trouble' Often Something Else

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

IT is a strange, though not uncommon fact, that disease in one part of the body may give rise to symptoms elsewhere. In these cases, the patient is entirely misled as to the cause of his trouble, and the physician may sometimes even be betrayed into treating the symptoms of which his patient complains rather than the disease which is causing them.

Every doctor is frequently confronted with patients whose symptoms seem to be those of long-standing "stomach trouble." These patients are subject to attacks of pain in the abdomen. They complain of gassiness and are definite about their inability to eat fried or greasy foods.

X-Ray Examinations

Many have had complete X-ray examinations of the stomach and bowel which failed to reveal any abnormal condition; others have had the usual medical treatments for stomach distress without gaining relief; nearly all have sought comfort in the habitual taking of soda and other alkaline preparations.

According to Dr. Joseph A. Winter of St. Joseph, Michigan, in some men with these symptoms, the disturbance is really due to an infection of the prostate gland. Such infections are by no means infrequent. A study carried out showed that about one-fifth of a group of young men had signs of inflammation of the prostate.

The symptoms of inflammation of the prostate include frequent emptying of the bladder, burning, stinging sensations when the bladder is emptied, and sometimes blood in the urine. In addition, the prostatic inflammation may also cause a sensation of fullness in the stomach, excessive gas formation, the inability to eat fatty foods and greasy foods without some discomfort.

There may be pain around the naval. This pain has no relationship to the eating of food. The pain often comes on an hour or so after breakfast and persists throughout the day.

Cause Undetermined

Just what causes the prostatic infection cannot always be determined. Frequently, it may develop because of infection in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, or elsewhere in the body.

Insofar as treatment of the prostate gland condition is concerned, prostatic massage seems to be the most helpful measure. Some cases may be helped by the use of penicillin or the sulfonamide drugs.

Of course, whenever a person has such symptoms as pain in the abdomen and gassiness, with loss of appetite and vomiting, there is need for a careful study by the physician. Obviously, the doctor's attention will be centered on the stomach, bowel, and other abdominal organs. Should careful study fail to reveal any abnormal conditions affecting these organs, an examination of the prostate gland might well be made.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 535 E. 45th st., New York City.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

News Notes Of Activities Of Ohio Senators, Representatives

BY EARL BERKLEY
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The door remains open for a political speech in Ohio by President Truman.

Nothing definite has been announced but the idea was kept alive by a news conference with Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan.

He told reporters that it still is possible that the President will make a "number" of speeches in the congressional campaign.

"The President hasn't foreclosed the possibility of making speeches away from Washington," the national chairman said.

There have been numerous reports that President Truman would make a public gesture, perhaps an address, in behalf of Sen. James W. Huffman (D) who is seeking reelection in a contest with Former Gov. John W. Bricker, the Republican vice presidential nominee in 1940.

Bricker has the active support of numerous prominent Republicans, among them National Chairman Carroll Reece and Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Ohio Democrats are bending every effort to have well-known speakers appear in the senate before next month's election.

The public relations office of Sen. Taft has been moved from a downtown building to 261 Constitution ave—nearer the senator's office at the capitol.

The senator's full-time public relations adviser is William D. McAdams.

When McAdams took charge several months ago, Sen. Taft denied that the arrangement had any connection with suggestions that he would be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948.

Rep. Al Weichel of Sandusky has returned home after attending hearings as a member of the house merchant marine committee investigating shipbuilding profits.

Herbert Flays Highway Program of Gov. Lausche

COLUMBUS, Oct. 4.—Republican Thomas J. Herbert carried his campaign for governor over the rough road beds of northern Ohio to this city today and topped off the journey with an attack on the highway program of his opponent, Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a G.O.P. noon rally, Herbert said Lausche's program in its first 15 months got "less work done than during any similar period under the (John W.) Bricker administration" despite the fact the department's personnel was 2,700 higher than Bricker's.

Herbert cited specific delays in road work and laid the blame directly on the present governor, who "for reasons known only to himself" ordered that all highway contracts must go over his desk.

Missouri's Man-Made Limestone Cave May Someday Be Part Of Nation's Defenses

Limestone pillars, 25 feet in diameter, support cave's roof. Overhead farmers peacefully plow their field, providing natural camouflage in time of war.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—Deep in a limestone and shale hillside, only two miles from President Truman's home here is a gigantic man-made cave 50 acres in area. Today it is just a limestone mine. Some day it might well be part of an underground defense system against all out aerial warfare.

Both the Army and the Navy are aware of the military defense possibilities of such caves here and in Kansas. During the war they made frequent surveys of the area but nothing was done. They still check them periodically.

The only war-time use made of the caves was by the War Food Administration which leased one at Atchison, Kans., from the Kerford Brothers whose father had carved out a hillside for its limestone before the turn of the century. The WFA used the caves' naturally cool interior for storing foodstuffs.

Both the cave here, which is operated by the Stewart Sand and Material Co., and another nearby owned by the Missouri Portland Cement Co., are turning out tons of limestone daily for the nation's home building program. But it would take only a few alterations to turn either into giant underground factories or air raid shelters.

NATURAL ROOF

Here trucks drive right through the cave's entrance to the working areas inside. The ceiling of hard limestone is 18 feet above the cave's floor and supporting this natural roof are pillars of limestone 25 feet in diameter, bigger than the average living room in an ordinary home. The pillars are about 35 feet apart.

It has taken miners 20 years to cut away the 90 acres of limestone already cleared, but currently about an acre a month is being removed. Eventually 200 acres will be cleared.

The cave's roof would stand considerable bombing pressure. The immediate ceiling is a four-foot-thick layer of Bethany limestone. Above this is an average of 25 feet of shale and Winterset limestone, and above that 20 feet of top-soil. Farmers quietly till their fields above as the trucks rumble about the cave's interior below.

Below the cave's flooring of a three-foot thick layer of shale is a two-foot ledge of hard limestone and then 100 more feet of shale, strong enough to support heavy machinery.

The cave is cool even on the hottest Missouri day, but at times it is damp and foggy. At such times you need fog lights on your car as you drive around the roadways inside, and it is safer to carry a flashlight or miner's lamp. Proper ventilation would clear out the damp and fog. The Missouri and Kansas limestone caves could accommodate thousands of people if converted to war-time air raid shelters, but because they are located so far from large population centers, it is probable that they would be converted into underground factories if the need ever arises.

By leveling the floors and covering them with concrete or other such material machine tools could be installed. Improvement of both lighting and ventilating would be no serious problem, and the huge drive-in entrances would make delivery of material and equipment easy. The peaceful farms overhead would provide natural camouflage.

BOOST ALLOWANCE TO COUNTY'S AGED

Pensioners To Receive Increases For Cost of Living Gains

The Division of Aid for the Aged has completed a review of food and clothing prices, Mrs. Edith V. Hilditch, head of the Columbiana county division, announced today, and that due to the substantial rise in cost of food and clothing, all cases will be reviewed in order that indigents whose award is under $50 may receive an amount sufficient to meet the cost of living.

Adjustments will be made in these cases with the November warrant, she stated.

Recent amendments to the Aid for the Aged law increases the maximum award to recipients from $40 to $50 per month. However, this does not mean all awards will be increased immediately to $50. Recipients of aid whose requirements are more than $480 per year, or $40 per month, will be the first to receive the increases to meet their needs, and these will be included in the warrants for October.

1,907 On County List

The present case load in Columbiana county is 1,907, of which 7 per cent will receive the $50 award, 30 per cent will be over $40, and 63 per cent will be under $40 per month.

Ohio was one of the first states to provide public assistance for its aged, when in November, 1933, its citizens voted to provide a maximum of $25 per month for needy, aged individuals 65 years of age or over. The first payments were made in July, 1934, and during that month 1,099 persons received assistance, the division's statistics reveal.

In December, 1934, the Ohio assembly passed legislation conforming to the Federal Social Security act enabling this state to participate in that program. In July, 1936, the maximum award was increased from $25 to $50 per month, and later legislation which became effective Jan. 1, 1941, increased the sum to $40 per month.

Huffman Keynotes Dems Rally With Liberalism Plea

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 4.—Keynoting the state convention of the Democratic party here today, U. S. Sen. James W. Huffman declared that "one of the main issues of this campaign is, shall we retreat with reactionism or advance with sound liberalism?"

In a "post-war period burdened with pressing and critical problems," he said, . . . President Harry S. Truman has demonstrated courageous leadership . . . and . . . given us a program that is designed to maintain peace abroad and employment and prosperity at home."

"One of the principal issues before the American people in this campaign is," Sen. Huffman said in his prepared speech, "shall the United States continue on the road toward a better and fuller life for all our people, or shall we return to the selfish exploitation of the many by the few."

"The decision was never more important," he continued, "because the course taken will profoundly affect the lives of our citizens for years, and perhaps even centuries to come."

Referring to Republican charges that "never have so many paid so much for so little as the people of Ohio under the new deal president and the new deal governor," Huffman declared:

"This is a studied attempt to mislead the voters of Ohio. Does anyone believe that the people of Ohio are devoid of memory? Who has forgotten 1932 when there were less than 38,000,000 Americans gainfully employed and 14,000,00 unemployed seeking jobs that did not exist."

"In this year, when Republican keynoters rail about the breakdown of national economy," he continued, "the people's income will approximate $170,000,000,000 for 1946 alone compared with $69,000,000,000 in 1930 and $40,000,000,000 in 1932.

Two Stricken With Polio

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4 — A two-year-old Sandusky boy and a 15-year-old Cleveland girl were admitted to City hospital yesterday as infantile paralysis patients, bringing the number of cases here for the year to 256, of which 25 were fatal.

BROOMS ON NEW OPA-FREED LIST

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 — OPA swept its price tags from all household brooms today.

The agency announced that ceiling prices will rise on bedsprings and metal beds, fabricated concrete reinforcing bars, and certain iron and steel products delivered at Middle-Western, Gulf and Pacific coast basing points.

Brooms went on the free list along with such varied products as sulphur, heavy used trucks, most fence posts, most military vehicles, elastic webbing, cord and braid and a few automobile parts and accessories.

Brooms were decontrolled, OPA said, because the Agriculture department failed to list broom corn as in short supply.

Most the other items were freed from ceilings because OPA ruled they are in ample supply.

Two price increases will become effective next Wednesday.

One is a boost of about $2.50 a ton in producers' ceilings for fabricated concrete reinforcing bars used in construction.

The other is on delivered prices of iron and steel products at Toledo, Ohio; Mahoning valley, Ohio; Detroit and eastern Michigan, and the Gulf and Pacific coast basing points.

Wheatley Ruling Is Awaited Today

LISBON, Oct. 4.—Lawrence A. Wheatley, 25, of Newell, W. Va., will be arraigned today before Judge Joel H. Sharp to determine the court's decision on his sanity in connection with a first degree murder charge.

If Judge Sharp decides that Wheatley is sane, it is expected that a jury will be drawn and the trial set for Nov. 13. The judge will base his decision on reports of examinations of Wheatley by Dr. Bushong of the Lima State hospital and Dr. Robert Owens of Youngstown.

Wheatley is charged with the murder of Mrs. Letha Barrett, 57, of East Liverpool.

More of Them

More fuel is used to heat buildings in New York, Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania than that required to heat buildings in all the states west of the Mississippi river.

Household Hints

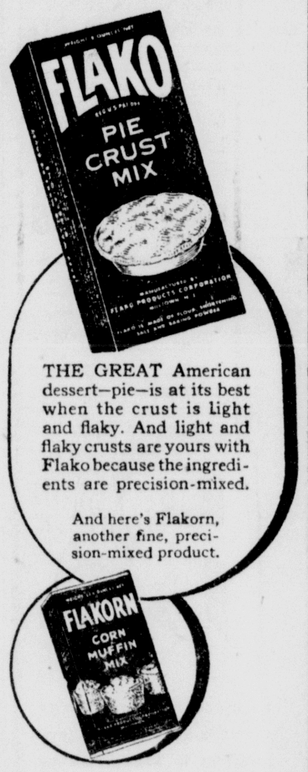

Sweetened chopped apples make a tasty topping for quick coffee cakes. The topping is spread in the bottom of the baking pan and the coffee cake batter is spread over it and baked. Serve this luscious taste-teaser turned "topsy turvy" and cut into squares. A drop biscuit recipe may be used for this coffee cake but it is improved if a little sugar and an egg are added.

Carrots with their tops on may look prettier than the topped variety but actually they are less fresh. When the carrot is in the ground, nourishment goes from the leaf to root. Pull the carrot out of the ground and the nutrition goes the other way, leaves drawing moisture and food from the root.

It will be held in the Presbyterian church, a dinner at 7, to be followed by a program.

Baseball Season Ended

The series of five baseball games to have been played between the Columbiana Youngs and the Ferris Coal team of East Palestine ended with only three games played and honors even.

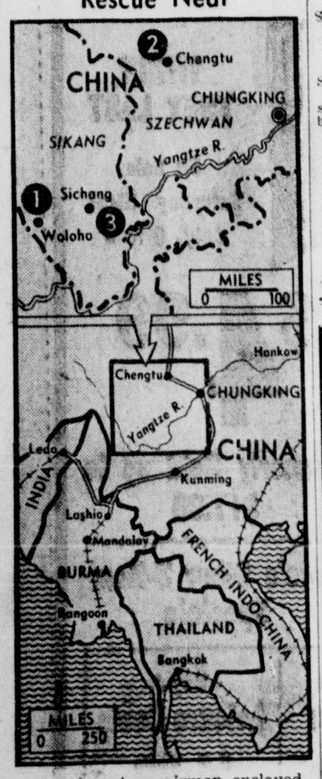

Each took one of the first two games played at East Palestine, Sunday, Sept. 22, and of the two games scheduled thre last Sunday, only one was played, running into 11 innings and ending with the score tied. Ferris Coal was unable to keep a team together for the remaining two games.

Bring Your Own

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 4—Harold Hall, a Clarence, Mo., veteran, thought he had solved his housing problem by bringing his own house to the University of Missouri.

It was simple enough to place the 12 x 20 foot structure on a semi-trailer. But hooking up the utility pipes was another matter. There wasn't a plumber available—and Hall had to drive back 70 miles to Clarence to find one.

Rescue Near

Five American airmen enslaved by savage Lolo tribesmen have been seen by a Chinese priest near Woloho (1). An American rescue team is to fly to Chengtu (2) preparatory to setting up headquarters at Sichang (3) for an attempt to free the flyers.

Let's Eat!

Artistic and delicious—chicken in casserole with parsley biscuits.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

With meat in hiding, we can go right on eating well—thanks to chicken and turkey. For example, a casserole of creamed chicken, topped with delicately browned pinwheel biscuits with minced parsley in them, is a robust thought.

In his appetite-provoking new book, "How I Feed My Friends," Max White, noted author, turns chicken cookery into a fine (but easy) art. Here are two of his suggestions:

Chicken and Noodles

Two boxes wide noodles, 2 cups diced chicken, 1 pint white sauce made with chicken broth, 1 cup mushrooms, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup chopped pimento, salt, pepper.

While the noodles are cooking, saute mushrooms sliced in butter, and, at the end, add chopped pimento. Combine sauce, mushrooms, pimento, and chicken, add a tablespoon of sherry if desired, and allow to exchange flavors for a few minutes in a covered dish over a very low fire.

When noodles are cooked and drained, oil them with a little butter, rather than oil, for this is a delicately flavored dish and only butter is suitable.

Mix noodles with all other ingredients and transfer to an oiled casserole. Place in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.

Chicken Souffle With Walnuts

Two and one-half cups boiled chicken, 1½ pints cream sauce (made with chicken broth), 1 cup chopped walnuts, ½ cup uncooked celery, ½ cup chopped onions, 9 egg yolks, 9 egg whites, 1 pinch oregano, salt, pepper.

Make the cream sauce as usual, using, however, some chicken broth in its composition; half milk and half chicken broth goes very well.

Stir diced chicken, walnuts, and vegetables into the sauce and bring to simmering point. Taste for salt and rectify.

Beat the egg yolks and stir into sauce, which has now come to boiling point. Stir constantly until yolks thicken. Allow this mixture to cool partially.

Whip whites of eggs until stiff. Fold them into the chicken and other ingredients.

Place mixture into a baking dish sufficiently large so that the mixture now occupies not more than 2/3 of it. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Raise heat slightly after first 15 minutes.

Beacons on the newer airways have two beams instead of one, and the lights are so powerful that sites can be 15 miles apart instead of 110.

Army, Navy Order Approves 'Civvies'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 — Acting jointly, the Army and Navy has authorized all armed service personnel in the Western hemisphere and in U. S. possessions to wear civilian clothes when off duty.

Navy and Marine officers and enlisted men were given the privilege on shore in the Western hemisphere and in all United States possessions.

The Army made its order effective "in the United States, the balance of the Western hemisphere, including Greenland, and overseas possessions of the United States."

The announcement from the two departments, however, emphasized that only uniformed personnel will get furlough rates on railroads.

WACS, WAVES and Army-Navy nurses have been permitted to wear civilian clothes when off duty since last month.

The army recently authorized officers on duty with civilian government agencies to wear "civvies" while on duty in such agencies.

Power Strike Is Tough on Baby

'BIG 3' MEETING NOT CONSIDERED

So Declares Truman In Interview; Answers Some Questions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Voicing accord with Secretary of State Byrnes' foreign policy speech in Paris, President Truman told his news conference he has given no consideration to another Big Three meeting.

Mr. Truman said he discussed Byrnes' Paris speech with the secretary over the phone and that he is in accord with what Byrnes had to say.

This was the President's most detailed comment on foreign policy issues in a conference which produced many questions touching on international affairs.

"No Comment"

These questions and answers occurred:

Is there any progress to report on Mr. Truman's efforts to get the British to admit 100,000 Jews into Palestine? He had no comment.

Could he discuss the purpose of Ambassador Bedell Smith's sudden mission from the Paris peace conference back to his post in Moscow? The President had no comment.

Does he contemplate saying anything himself on foreign policy issues? Mr. Truman said no.

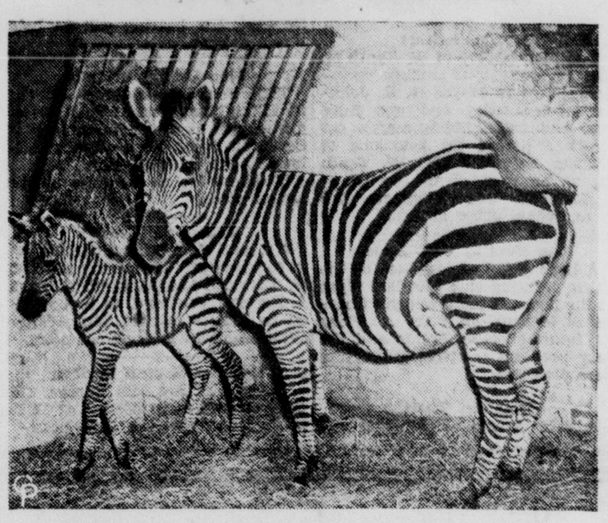

Could he say whether he discussed with Admiral John H. Towers recently the plan of Pacific base development which Towers announced at Pearl Harbor today? Mr. Truman said he had no comment to make on any conversation held with Admiral Towers.

Mr. Truman also:

Described the Nuernberg verdicts as a good thing for the world and, asked specifically about the three acquittals, replied he thought the trials were fair.

Reported no progress on the selection of a man to succeed W. Averell Harriman, new commerce secretary, as American ambassador to Great Britain.

WALLACE

uch's "stubbornness." The two points, he said, are:

1. Whether the United States should "continue its production and stockpiling of atomic bombs during the negotiation" of a treaty leading to full international control.

2. Russia's "refusal to agree to an international system of inspection to control atomic energy production."

Complains Of Barrier

Beyond these, Wallace said, the United States has insisted "unnecessarily" on the great powers giving up their veto over atomic energy control matters despite Russia's flat refusal to do so. This, Wallace argued, has "served as a barrier to the successful negotiation of an international atomic energy control treaty."

Wallace also called into question again the main course of American relations with Russia—the basis of his dismissal from the cabinet—by declaring that the root cause of atomic energy difficulties is "the absence of attitudes of mutual trust and confidence between the United States and Russia."

While the row has only just developed into bitter personal feuding between Wallace and Baruch, it had its origin in a letter the then secretary wrote Mr. Truman on foreign policy July 23.

At that time Wallace criticized the atomic control plan which Baruch was presenting to the U. N., saying that under it this country affered no assurances to Russia or other nations as to the exact conditions under which the bomb would be given up.

Boyle's COLUMN

PARIS—European monuments to American soldier dead of World War II will include a memorial highway 600 miles long from St. Mere Eglise in Normandy to Metz, tracing the victorious path of the U. S. Third army led by the late Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.

Hal Boyle

Mrs. Patton, whose husband is buried in one of the 36 American cemeteries in Europe, is honorary chairman of the "Liberty Highway" commission. President Georges Bidault of France and U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery are patrons.

Vice chairman reading from Normandy east, are the mayors of St. Mere Eglise, St. Lo, Avranches, St. Malo, Rennes, Angers, Le Mans, Chartres, Fontainbleau, Reims, Verdun and Metz.

Major G. De La Vasselais, former Third army liaison officer and mayor of St. Symphorian, the guiding hand behind the project, was present in August when the first of 600 torches to mark the miles along the way was ignited to dedicate officially the "Liberty Highway" to the memory of the Third army.

Under Patton the U. S. Third army penetrated Europe deeper than any other army on the Western front. After breaking through at St. Lo with the U. S. 35th and 29th Infantry divisions and the Fourth Armored in the vanguard most of the way, the Third army crossed six international borders and was in Czechoslovakia when the Nazis quit.

There has been some misunderstanding and not a little feeling between the French city of Metz and the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg regarding the final official resting place of Gen. Patton's body.

Since his death last winter, following an auto accident in Germany, the mayor of Metz has requested removal of Patton's body from the cemetery in Luxembourg to Metz, where it would rest at the foot of a memorial at the end of "Liberty Highway."

Since Luxembourg was once Gen. Patton's headquarters and units of the Third army liberated the Grand Duchy, the people of Luxembourg are not a little jealous of their trust and refused to listen to the demands from Metz.

Grand Duchess Charlotte and members of the royal family have taken personal charge of the general's grave. Each of the more than 10,000 other soldiers' graves in Luxembourg has been adopted by a family charged with seeing that the grave is properly cared for and decorated on holidays.

FAIRFIELD

The marriage of Miss Myrna Kline daughter of Mr. and Mrs Carl Kline of East Palestine, and Donald McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Graham, Columbiana-Leetonia road, was solemnized in the Church of Christ at East Palestine on Saturday afternoon.

Rev. N. R. Martin performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attractive in a gown of white brocade and net, fashioned with sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a tiara of orange blossoms and carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Thelma Woods of East Palestine wore a pink taffeta dress with full skirt, a short pink veil and carried pink roses. Eugene Hawkins was best man. John Kline of Ft. Belvoir, Va., brother of the bride, and Robert Bussard were ushers. Mrs. Kline, the bride's mother, wore a black dress with sequins and black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Graham, the bridegroom's mother, wore a brown dressmaker suit, brown accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

CALLS CURRENT GRID PRACTICES NEW SLAVE MART

American University Head Blasts Post-War College Football Methods

BY HAL COOPER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Two officials of American university (enrollment 3,850) blew a loud whistle on college football today.

They declared the players are knocked down to the highest bidder as human chattels who "surrender their complete freedom to the coaches, today's slave drivers."

President Paul F. Douglass estimated it would cost his school $50,000 to field a decent team at current prices. And he isn't going to do it.

"Instead," he said in a statement, "we intend to spend that money to enlarge our art and music schools."

Non-Educational, Claim

Echoed Robert V. Fletcher, chairman of the board of trustees:

"Postwar college football has no more relation to education than bull fighting to agriculture."

The university stopped playing football in 1941. What brought up the current furor was the decision by university officials that they can continue to get along without it very well.

"A human slave market extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada especially to Alabama," Douglass said.

"Day by day young men come to the auction block for sale to the highest bidder. The bidding is bitter, determined, violent and unscrupulous.

Will Play Basketball

"The country is ridden by agents and scouts directed by coaches who receive salaries higher than university presidents."

He said that under the system football players exist as an "alien colony without the student body, adorned for their mighty deeds but with purpose unrelated to educational ideals."

The GI Bill of Rights "raised the ceiling of maintenance" for the hapless thralls, Douglass went on.

Douglass said American U. will continue basketball as its major intercollegiate sport.

P. S.—American won the Mason-Dixon conference cage championship for the last two seasons.

LARGE TURNOUT AT BOOSTERS SESSION

Complete Plans For Trip To Cleveland Sunday; Will Take 95 Boys

More than 115 Boosters club members met Thursday night at the Saxon home on Railroad st. and watched pictures of the Salem-East Palestine football game.

Secretary Art Brian announced that 351 members have been recruited in the membership drive, thus setting a new record for the club.

The Boosters completed plans to take the entire Salem High football squad, some 95 players, to the Cleveland Brown-Brooklyn Dodger game Sunday. The boys will be transported to the game in cars, donated for the day by Booster members.

The caravan of 27 cars will leave the Memorial building at 11:30 a. m. Sunday. President Joe Kelley advised all players to eat lunch before going to the game, since the acute food shortage at most restaurants will prohibit the group from eating in Cleveland.

Kelley outlined the tentative plans for the Boosters "Army-Navy" football game on Oct. 19. He said arrangements have been completed for one and possibly two bands, a Navy goat and an Army mule, a pre-game parade, possible fireworks at the game and for officials.

Tickets for the game, he said, are in the hands of Booster members. Student tickets are being printed this week and will also be on sale at 25 cents.

Coach Ben Barrett reviewed the Salem-East Palestine game and answered several questions about the game.

Kelley expressed great satisfaction over the large turnout at the meeting, but said 50 per cent of the total membership should be present at each meeting.

In 1915, Roland Garros, of the French air force, perfected a machine-gun fire control invention which made it possible to fire through a revolving propeller.

Football Broadcasts

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Beginning with Saturday's football schedule, third of the new season, CBS is splitting up its network to carry two games on a regional basis. This plan is to be followed hereafter whenever it is felt interest in a particular contest may not be nation-wide.

Eastern stations will have Columbia vs. Navy at New York, starting at 2. Stations in the south, midwest and west will get Northwestern vs Wisconsin at Evanston, Ill.

Other networks have scheduled:

NBC 1:45—Columbia vs. Navy.

ABC 1:45—Army vs Cornell at West Point.

MBS 3:15—Tulane vs Florida at New Orleans.

No Ivy League

SAN FRANCISCO—San Francisco has acquired a catcher named Ivy, but that plus the fact that Tony Lupien of Hollywood is a Harvard man and Joe Wood, Jr., late of Sacramento, is a Yale graduate, does not make the Pacific Coast an Ivy League. Ivy is a coal miner.

Two evenly matched teams—Salem's Quakers and Leetonia's Bears—will square away for battle at 7:45 p. m. today at Reilly stadium in what appears certain to be one of the best grid offerings on the home field this year.

The contest certainly will not be neglected, either, as far as the fandom of the two towns is concerned, for tickets have been going like nylon hose ever since they were placed on sale earlier in the week.

The odds-makers are giving Leetonia about six and a half points in the contest, but it's hard to see just where the difference in the teams lies.

In the first place both have met East Palestine, with Salem losing 13-8 and East Palestine taking Leetonia 13-6. The difference is so slight and the statistcs show that both teams stacked up nearly the same against the Bulldogs.

East Palestine racked up 11 first downs to Leetonia's seven, rushed for a total of 173 yards to Leetonia's 143. Salem gained only 93 against the Bulldogs through rushing while the Bulldogs pushed through for 147.

Salem clicked off six first downs to seven for Palestine in the game here.

These probably don't mean too much, but a close examination would indicate that Salem's line was weaker against Bulldog running power than Leetonia's against the same line. The Quaker backs, on the other hand, were unable to gain as much as Leetonia's through the Palestine defense.

That comparison goes Leetonia's way.

As far as weights go, the two stack up almost identically. Salem's team average is 158 pounds, Leetonia's 157. The Salem line averages 161 pounds from end to end and Leetonia's hits 165.

The backs reveal the greatest difference in the poundage department, Salem averaging 152 as compared to the Bears' 143.

Coach Ben Barrett plans to make some shifts in his backfield and one in the line tonight. Whether or not the changes would be in the starting lineup Barrett would not say definitely, but it seemed fairly certain that Jimmy Jensen and Dick Gottschling, both Seniors would be in at the start.

A pair of Dick and Tony Martinelli, both Seniors, will be in at the tackles with Seniors Jack Wilson and Andy Parlontieri in the guard slots. Pete Cain, Junior center will be in the middle assignment.

Regular left guard, Lee Sproat, will play but is on the injured list.

In the backfield the starting four remained a question today, but, it appeared—from Barrett's practices this week — that Senior Jimmy Laughlin, regular signal-caller would start at quarterback. Tom Miner, a Sophomore, will see a lot of action, however.

At left half will probably be Sophomore Eddie Bozich with Charlie Franks, a Senior and part-time fullback, at right half. Marion Faini, powerful driving 152-pound Senior may draw the No. 1 fulback berth this week. Lee Ward, a 160-pound Junior, is slated for a bundle of work there also.

Coach Joe Fortunato, who had no comment to make on his team's chances this week, probably will adhere fairly closely to the lineup he has started in the three previous games this season.

At ends will be Jim Grindle and either Bob Carey or Lester McNeeley. On the tackles will be the two Driscolls, Jim and Dick, Jim at 189 and Dick 159.

Guards this week again wil be 14-pound Ed Exten and 148-pound Johnnie Koontz. At center will be valuable Jack White, a 185-pound defensive genius.

Sammy Stumpo, 150-pound Senior, will start at the quarter spot, but shifts to halfback on defense At left half will be either Dick Tullis, a 139-pound Junior or Jimmy DeJane, another Junior at 145 pounds. Pass-matching Ed Sullivan, a precarious man at all times, fills the other halfback spot.

Alfred Stumpo, 166-pound brother of Sammy, will be in at full again.

Faculty Manager Fred Cope of Salem predicted that if the good weather holds on throughout the day, the crowd tonight will be the largest so far this year. There were 4,500 at the Rhodes opener and about 6,000 at the East Palestine fray last week.

CARDS PLANNING ON MOMENTUM OF PLAYOFF SERIES

Figure Steam Already Up Will Carry Them On To Beat Red Sox

BY JACK HAND

ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Eddie Dyer's St. Louis Cardinals are counting on the momentum of two playoff victories over the Brooklyn Dodgers to send them winging into the World Series with the Boston Red Sox Sunday as very healthy 7 to 20 underdogs.

Instead of a bedraggled flock of Redbirds, drooping after a 156-game schedule that included the first tie in major league history, the revived National league champs remain completely unawed by the gentlemen from Boston.

Too much occupied by their own struggle with Brooklyn to pay much attention to the Sox, the Cardinals believe they have the lefthanded pitching.

Proved Themselves

With the chips down in a short series, the Cardinals proved against Brooklyn they can play like the team most of the experts picked last spring to breeze to the pennant.

After Howie Pollet won the playoff opener in St. Louis Tuesdty, Dickson, a converted reliefer, showed the Brooks something yesterday in the final 8-4 victory at Ebbetts field.

From the first inning when Brooklyn made two hits count for an early run, until the ninth when they drove him to cover in a rousing three-run uprising, Dickson held the home club without a smell of a hit, allowing only one ball to be hit to the outfield.

Up to the ninth inning, the Dodgers didn't look as though they belonged on the same field with the Cards.

If Pollet feels that his strained side won't bother his control, he will be the opening game pitcher. If there is any doubt about the matter, Dyer will go with Brecheen, one of the best "money" pitchers in the game. He is certain to start a lefthander despite Dickson's early success yesterday.

The Cards figure they probably will face Tex Hughson in the first game, a welcome relief from lefthanders as tough as Tex may turn out to be.

We are anxious to see the bomb outlawed, but we are not going to be a party to another Kellogg-Briand pact.
—Vice-Adml. W. H. P. Blandy, Operation Crossroads commander.

I am afraid that if we haven't a show of strength, a force strong enough to impress the ideas of freedom on the world, that we will take the darndest licking any country ever took. The reparations that Germany and Japan are paying won't be a drop in the bucket to what we will pay.

MACKENZIE'S Column

By GLENN BABB
AP Foreign News Analyst

More and more the position in China of the United States resembles that of Britain in Greece. In each case the end of the war found armed forces of one of the Western powers in occupation of territory of an Allied nation and faced with an obligation to preserve the fruits of the common victory and attempt to restore normal law and order. And in each case the occupying forces found themselves, largely through force of circumstances, involved in a bloody civil war which they have sought, thus far without success, to end.

The result of these factors, and to some extent of the policies of Washington and London, has been that the Americans in China and the British in Greece have found themselves in the position of actually if not avowedly, supporting a rightist regime whose acts and policies are not wholly admirable.

Despite their efforts to remain neutral they have drawn on themselves the bitter opposition and criticism of revolutionary Communist regimes which have the moral, if not the physical, support of Soviet Russia.

This has proved embarrassing to both the Western governments, both at home and in their international relations And the Moscow propaganda machine has done its best to increase this embarrassment. For a time the loudest blasts were aimed at the British forces in Greece, which Russia and her satellites at Paris and in the United Nations sessions at Lake Success condemned as a threat to peace.

The main attack appears now to have shifted to American intervention in China. The head man himself, Joseph Stalin, declared last week that he considered "the earliest withdrawal of all American forces from China" vital to peace. And now Trud, the organ of Soviet trade unions, and the chief Chinese Communist spokesman at Nanking come out simultaneously with attacks on American involvement in China in strikingly similar terms. Both declare that Chiang Kai-Shek has 57 American-equipped divisions, all engaged in the war against the Chinese Communists. Both say Chiang is using several hundred American-made warplanes (Chou En-Lai, the Nanking spokesman, makes it an even thousand) against his Communist foes.

The tenor of both declarations is to emphasize the magnitude of Chiang's current military effort and to insist that it would have been impossible without American aid.

There is enough truth in these statements to make them effective propaganda. It is true that large quantities of American weapons and other supplies have reached Chiang, both before and since the fall of Japan. American vessels carried tens of thousands of his troops to Manchuria and thereby facilitated his campaign against the Communist in the rich, strategic territory.

But it is also true that the United States has worked mightily and in spite of great discouragements to end the Chinese civil war, and has brought heavy pressure on Chiang Kai-Shek to convince him of the necessity of coming to terms with the Communists and admitting them to a regime that would be truly representative of the Chinese people.

Both Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart and Special Envoy General George C. Marshall have worked with admirable patience and good will toward those objectives and are continuing the effort in spite of the bleakness of the outlook.

Meanwhile it would appear that the Chinese Communist outcry springs in part from dismay at the prospect of losing Kalgan, capital of Chahar province, which since Japan's downfall they have turned into their showplace, second capital and main military base.

The Nationalist forces are driving steadily nearer this prize city, the fall of which would be a heavy blow to Communist hopes of planting a rich, powerful Soviet state in Manchuria and Inner Mongolia

OPA Boosts Prices On Novelty Leather Items

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—Prices of novelty leather products, including handbags are on the way up. OPA boosted ceilings for three more imported leathers

Similar to those allowed recently on other leather imports in an effort to meet heavy demands in this country, today's increases are: 35 per cent on leather retanned from East Indian goatskin; 34 per cent for chamois leather produced from raw sheep or lamb skins; and about 25 per cent for skivers, which are grain side of split sheepskins used in producing chamois.

OPA said these supply about seven and one-half per cent of all leather consumption in this country.
